It's a girl!

Don't scratch the "Kangaroo."

Our best wishes are extended to little Miss Cleveland.

THERE ye, there ye! for why will ye lie, oh, Major McKinley?

The tin (tern) plate has been met and squelched at every point.

ROGER Q. MILLS is dealing death blows to the robber tariff system.

DEMOCRACY is the party of the people, and the people's party. Come with us.

McKINLEY should call in his Welsh tin badges and acknowledge that they are a fraud.

EVERY Democrat should join the Logan Democratic club and work earnestly for a big Democratic victory on November 3.

THE notion that excessive taxation produces national prosperity is the most damnable heresy that ever afflicted the American people.

THE Democrats of Logan and Hocking county are rapidly falling into line for a decisive battle with the representatives of high taxation and monopoly.

PERHAPS no man in America ever received so many congratulations as Grover Cleveland upon the birth of his daughter. The people love both Grover and Mrs. Cleveland—and the baby too.

THE Ohio State Journal, in its report of Grover's speech here, entirely omits his partisan tirade against the Australian ballot law. Has Grover already become ashamed of his utterances?

THE McKinley bill was passed ostensibly in the interests of labor. Will the workingman of Logan, whose wages have been increased on account of the tariff bill, please report at the SENTINEL office.

AT Tin Horn Grover's speech here, entirely omits his partisan tirade against the Australian ballot law. Has Grover already become ashamed of his utterances?

FLOPPER White, who presided at the Grover meeting Monday night, talked and acted as though he had undertaken a very disagreeable job. In fact he said it was very distasteful to him to tell why he had played turn-out.

"THE prices on all school books are away below former years," says the Republican Coshcocton Age. Thanks, awfully, for that admission. It was a Democratic legislature that enacted the law, nearly every Republican voting against the bill.

FARMER Seitz, the People's party candidate for governor, addressed a Logan audience on Saturday last. Those who heard him say that the burden of his speech was directed against the evils which are the result of Republican class legislation.

One of their objective points in this campaign is the retirement of John Sherman from the United States Senate, and if they really wish to accomplish this they can do it more effectively by voting for the Democratic representatives to the legislature. With a Democratic legislature, Sherman's retirement will be an absolute certainty.

THE Republican defenders of the McKinley tax bill have now been driven to the last ditch. The portions of the bill which they dare hold up to the people are its two free trade features—free sugar and reciprocity—and meekly apologize for the rest. The day of tariff robbery or so-called protection is doomed. It is absolutely impossible that a people possessing the intelligence of Americans—a people professing to be capable of self-government—will long tolerate a system of taxation which robs and impoverishes ninety-nine one-hundredths of the people in order that a favored few may reap exorbitant profits.

THE Rawlins bill was introduced in the Legislature by Mr. Rawlins of Clark county, and a stalwart republican. It received on its final passage as many republican as democratic votes. The Republicans of the general assembly are equally responsible with the Democrats for its passage. Therefore there is no excuse in this law for a Democrat who deserts the democratic party for the republican. He must go elsewhere for vindication. Mr. Rawlins, the author of the bill, lives in or near the great manufacturing city of Springfield, and surely can not be accused of being an enemy to the manufacturing industries of his own city and county. The charge that the bill creates double taxation is absurd. It has not and will not decrease the wages of a single laboring man, unless employers are not rationally unjust and make reduction for political effect. It has not driven a single dollar of capital out of the state. It will more nearly equalize the taxes of the farmer and manufacturer.

GEO. GROSVENOR spoke in the Court room Tuesday evening to a goodly number of people. His appearance here had been advertised for three weeks previous and a great effort was made to have a large attendance, but the number disappointed the republican managers. The Court room very comfortably seated all who were present and desired to hear the General.

GROSVENOR made one of his characteristic speeches. It abounded in egotism. He recently returned from Europe where he had been sent by Charles Foster on some business connected with the World's Fair, at a compensation of $10 per day and expenses. He seemed fearful that the dear people had not yet learned that he had "done" Europe. With all his absorbing duties as the agent of this government, he pretends that in the brief period of three and one half months to have learned all that there was worth knowing about the laboring people of the Old World; that he has become master of the labor problem and is now the only man who does know any thing about it in this country. Next to his egotism, demagoguery was the prominent feature of his speech. He evidently has a poor opinion of the intelligence and education of the people of Logan, or he never would have made so many statements so utterly without foundation in fact. But misrepresentation is the stock in trade of the Republican orator, and the General is not so much to blame for leaving his political veracity at home, when he starts out as a republican stump. He nor any other person can make a good, red hot, first class republican speech and speak the truth. Republicanism and truth don't go together.

THE General "discussed" the tariff, free coinage of silver and "cussed" the peoples party and the Australian ballot law. He made the same withered, dried up, fizzled out old claim that the tariff protected everybody. There is no sort of person, or pursuit, business or profession that is not benefited by the McKinley bill. How the General does love the farmer and laboringman! His love is immeasurable—it has neither length nor breadth, depth nor height—his great heart is almost bursting from very excess of this love.

General, don't you know that the people are cognizant of the fact that you are only "making believe"? That you only desire to turn them over to the monied aristocracy and reduce them to industrial slavery? Don't you know that excessive taxation creates poverty, not riches? The Athenian is afraid of free coinage of silver. Does he forget that until 1873 we had free coinage and we were not flooded with ship loads of silver. How much of the silver plate and the silver table service of the old world was melted down and sent to this country to impoverish its people prior to its demonitization in that year? Before the 'demonitization' act were not Sherman and McKinley openly for free silver? Is this not now a fight by the Republican party in the interest of the gold bugs of Wall St. New York City? Was ever any individual or nation impoverished by the possession of too much silver?

THE Democratic party does not propose to make a dollar out of eighty cents worth of silver, but with 100 cents worth. Free coinage of silver does not mean "short" or "shoddy" or dishonest dollars, but an honest dollar, one worth one hundred cents. It is amazing that the claim should be made that because we might have free coinage we would not have an honest dollar. Under free coinage the government could and would, under a democratic administration refuse to coin less than 100 cents worth of silver into a dollar.

THE new election law affects Grosvenor in about the same manner and degree as water does a mad dog. He can't stand its purity and honesty. It breaks up the republican system of bulldozing and corrupting the voters as has heretofore been done. No more can the "blocks of fire" be handled. It ruins the business of such men as Quay and Dudley. It insures secrecy of the ballot and integrity of the voter. It was asked for and demanded by more than 300,000 laborers of the state, nearly as many Republicans as Democrats voted for it in the general assembly. While it may not be perfect in all details, yet it is a good law and the future will correct defects it may possess.

TWO of a Kind. The Ohio "tin" that McKinley "dipped" at Piqua was lead plate. Like the Republican party it was a fraud.

WILL not go to the Poor House. Jav Gould says he looks forward to an era of great prosperity. If a man with $150,000,000 can't look forward to one, who can?

AS IT LOOKS AFAR. Campbell is making a valiant fight on the iniquitous tariff. It begins to look as if Campbell and McKinleyism will defeat McKinley.—Atlanta Journal.

PITTSBURG PRINTERS STRIKE. Last week quite an extensive strike occurred among the job printers and pressmen of Pittsburgh. Large numbers of non-union men were brought into the city but the union men succeeded in inducing most of them to refrain from work. A lively contest is anticipated.

NO PROTECTION FOR LABOR. A lot of English woolen mill hands employed in Cleveland, made affidavit that they were imported under contract to work in a Cleveland woolen mill, but when they got there the contract was not carried out. There is a big tariff on woolen goods, but none on woolen mill hands.—Suberville Gazette.

'LANDBILL' ALLEN A PAUPER. "Land-bill Allen," the originator of the great homestead law was admitted to the Franklin county infirmary this week. His effort in behalf of the working men and working women of the country had won him a national fame. He early determined to be a philanthropist even if he could not afford to be one.

ALL McKinley Diet. The protectionists organs would have us thank Mr. McKinley for the big crops. But heaven sent the crops all that McKinley did was to increase the tax on the farmer's plow, hoe, harrow, seed, reaper, and every other implement, convenience or necessity with which he was obliged to supply himself when he was putting the crop in the ground or harvesting it afterwards.—Mercer County Standard.

PROTECTED TO LEATH. Col. Churchill, of Zanesville, in one of his letters on his trip around the world says that the British flag can be seen in every nook and corner of the globe, seeking trade wherever it may be found. If McKinley lived in England he would soon put a stop to that kind of business. He and the other high protectionists have driven every American merchant vessel off of the sea. Our flag is seen in no foreign port.—Zanesville Signal.

SILENCE THAT SPEAKS ALoud. Right in Youngstown, Ohio, where the smoking chimneys of protected factories make the air as murky as the protectionist argument, and the clanging machinery was as deafening as the cries of a 100 year-old infant industry for more protection, Gov. Campbell propounded this inquiry: "What industry has raised wages on account of the McKinley bill? You can't name one." And the silence of the thousands of working men who stood about him spoke louder than whole volumes of living statistics compiled by protection commissions.—Chicago Times.

A BARREN SCHEME.

THE HOLY TRIUMVIRATE.

Vickers, Pursell & Rempel. Conspire to Boost Sherman and Maintain Their Own Hold on the Public Teat.

THE silent member of the partnership of Vickers, Pursell & Co. had a representative here last week in the person of Archbishop Alex. Sands, of Cincinnati. The Archbishop is an uncompromising and inveterate foe of Ex-Gov. Foraker, and a life long and warm friend of John Sherman. He met Vickers, Pursell and Col. Rempel and arranged a plan of campaign against Lowry and Price, who are the democratic candidates for the legislature. He was assured by the triumvirate that both Abbott and Payne are Sherman men, and if elected will vote for him for U. S. Senator. Of course with such assurance, Sherman will plank down plenty of boodle with which to corrupt voters and "hire" doubtful ones to stay at home.

THIS sort of political work exactly suits Pursell. There is nothing open, honest and manly about it. He delights in the employment in politics, of cunning, trickery and deceit. He never made an open, square, manly political fight in his life, and never will. If his office holding depended upon the suffrages of the people, he could not be so much as a road supervisor or cemetery trustee. It is only by keeping John Sherman in the Senate that he can hope to retain his hold on the public teat and live on government "pap." He will resort to every unscrupulous and cunning trick of the shrewd politician to carry his point. He will sacrifice every other candidate on the republican ticket, if by so doing he may be able to secure the election of Abbott and Payne. The interests of McKinley and the county ticket are of secondary importance to those of John Sherman. His funny articles in the "Gazette" are simply a cover, a blind to the serious and dirty work of the campaign. He thinks that while people laugh they may be imposed upon. He appeals through his paper to neither reason nor common sense, but entirely to the prejudice or sentiment of his readers. These words are written to warn the democracy of the county of the character of the campaign they may expect. It will be waged against them with cunning, backed by unlimited boodle and the energy of desperation.

THE Kangaroo and McKinleyism. The American ballot box law is knocking the stuffing out of McKinleyism, because manufacturers can no longer control the votes of their workmen.—Columbus Post.

A DISHONORABLE SCHEME.

How the Athens Republican Committee Attempted to Work the College Students.

ATHENS, O., Oct. 3.—Major McKinley's speech here today, or rather the announcement of the speech to be made here, was the cause of considerable confusion among the college students at this place, and as the affair turned out, some were placed at a great disadvantage.

FOR almost a week previous to the speech, meetings were held in the chapel hall every evening, which at first consisted only of Republican students, for the purpose of organizing a students' club to meet McKinley at the depot, and to be his escort while he was in town. Half of the Republican students in college were not in favor of honoring the Major to that extent, and consequently did not attend the meetings. In order to make a better showing, it was decided, and generally understood that the club would be a non partisan affair, organized not only for the purpose of meeting Major McKinley, but every other man, regardless of his party, who should speak here in this campaign. With this purpose in view, the Democratic students went in, but some three or four only, marched with the club to the depot. No sooner had the depot been reached than a member of the Republican central committee sent a telegram to the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette to the effect that twenty-five Democratic students in the Ohio University had become Republicans and were wearing Republican badges.

THE Democratic students are very indignant over the gross misrepresentation of the actual condition of affairs, and will proceed to correct, as far as possible, the false report. The scheme was planned and understood by only one or two Republican students who were in league with an outside committee. J. H. A.

How's This?

In placing our orders last Spring with our factories for fall goods, we did so, fully expecting the miners at New Straitsville, where we have a branch store would have a good summers work and that we would have sale for our stock, but we have been disappointed, the miners have had very little work and we are going to have too many boots and shoes to carry, so we have decided to divide our profits with our customers and have marked our goods in plain figures and at prices that we need not fear competition. We have the most complete and largest line of Boots and Shoes of any house in the Hocking Valley and will save you money if you will only call and examine our stock and prices and be convinced. We will continue to give to each customer on having purchased to the extent of twenty-five dollars one of Rand McNaley & Co's Atlas of the World. Notwithstanding the low price we sell you boots and shoes. We will also sell you a first class sewing machine for $25.00
